What is 10mm toughened glass office partitions?

10mm toughened glass office partitions are using 10mm toughened glass as glass office partitions. It is produced by heating 10mm clear or tinted edgeworked glass to around 700 degrees in the tempering oven and then cool down rapidly by a strong wind jet. This process is also called glass quenching, it will form compression stress on the 10mm glass surface whereas the interior is still in tension. After 10mm glass is toughened, it will be 5 times stronger than normal 10mm annealed glass.

Features:

- 1, Super high strength, can endure strong impact;
- 2, Super safe, completely human harmless, even broken, it will shatter into small pieces of obtuse angles;
- 3, High clearance, can have a good sense of space and elegant interior designs;
- 4, Privacy functions optional;
- 5, Soundproofing to make you have a quiet environment for working.
