

7 Important Questions to Ask When Selecting A Bulletproof Glass Manufacturer

For public spaces and private residences everywhere, the installation of bulletproof glass can mean a welcome sense of security. Selecting the right bulletproof glass manufacturer to partner with is key – if you're interested in making sure that your project meets industry standards and goes off without any issues. Knowing which questions to ask is essential when it comes time to make a decision – here are 7 questions to consider as you evaluate your options for a professional bulletproof glass provider.

What is a bulletproof glass made of?

Bulletproof glass is an immensely strong pane of glass designed to withstand high-level impacts, such as those created by bullet fire. It is made up of two or more layers of laminated glass with a polymer such as a polycarbonate in between. This sandwich of materials provides bulletproofing by absorbing and dispersing the bullet's energy, preventing it from penetrating the other side of the glass.

In spite of its robust protection features, bulletproof glass remains versatile and able to be cut into various shapes, offering excellent visibility and heightened safety applications in many sectors.
