Curved Shower Door Glass Production Detail

Basically, curved shower door glass is produced in two main forms – hot bending glass & cold bending glass.

Hot bending shower door glass

Hot bending shower door glass is annealed gravity bending. Produce curved glass usually begin with steel pieces. That forms a mold as a baseline for the glass that they will bend into the desired shape.

The glass panel is placed on or into a mold and the whole thing is loaded back into the kiln. Once the kiln reaches the desired temperature – about 700 degrees C – the molecules in the glass begin to speed up and it begins to melt and bend, melding into the shape of the mold. The kiln is very slowly cooled down, completing the curved glass. This method allows you to achieve many different shapes.

Cold bending shower door glass

Cold bent shower door glass is also called curved tempered glass or curved toughened glass. It is processed in a tempered oven. After the desired shape is achieved in the curved mold in the tempering line, It will be cooled down rapidly to room temperature with the strong windjet. Cold bending glass (curved toughened glass) has 5 times higher strength than normal annealed glass.

Curved Shower Screens Features

- Attractiveness: Curved shower screens generally look sleek and chic. They lend your bathroom a sense of class, modernity, and cleanliness. They do not fight for attention with other design elements; rather, they make your bathroom space look more unified and polished by allowing other design objects to pop.
- Durable: The tempered shower screen glass is treated to strengthen it and make it scratch and shatter-resistant. With proper maintenance, tempered curved shower screens can last as long as your home.

- Customizable: Shenzhen Dragon Glass gives you an opportunity to create custom shower screens glass for your bathroom. The element of customization becomes particularly useful when it comes to bathrooms with renovated showers. The curved glass panel will help you smooth out any irregular, tight, or awkward shapes to ensure a seamless fit.
- Low Maintenance: Curved glass shower panel generally do not require any maintenance beyond regular cleaning to remove soap residue and water spots. The tempered glass material will typically last longer than the door hardware, frames, and other accessories.
- Transparency: The curved glass shower panel creates an organic flow that opens up your bathroom and makes it look larger. The curved shower screens also allow more light into the enclosure which can be very useful if you haven't installed a light source over the shower.
