What Is Digital Glass?

Dip-Tech Digital Printing on Glass Printer

There are two main ways to print on glass, silk screen printing and digital ceramic glass printing.

Digital glass printing process is a technology that applies ceramic ink directly onto glass in much the same way that an inkjet printer prints onto paper. So digital ceramic glass printing offer more ink color options and the more complicated patterns. Ceramic frit designs are fused on to the glass surface during the tempering process.

However, silk screen printing on glass has few ink color options, not more than 3 kinds of color and patterns, and complicated details are not available.
